Lenten Music

As we move through the season of Lent, our worship will take on a more subdued tone. In particular, our music at the 10:00 service will reflect a pairing down, with a new and yet ancient response to confession, the voice of the choir heard in different ways, and hymns that are meditative in nature. There will be less pomp and circumstance, more introspection.

Sunday, April 14:

Palm Sunday Worship Service

The First Pres Pastor Nominating Committee

The PNC is asking for your assistance. The first task we have is to complete our Ministry Information Form. Part of that form is to take a list of 33 Leadership Competencies and reduce that list to the 10 most important to our congregation. The nine members of the PNC feel it is very important to get that information directly from you, the members of our congregation.

Look the insert in the bulletin for the two-sided document with different categories to chose from. Please just check the box in front of your top 10 categories. If you check more than 10, your survey will not be counted, as we will not be able to determine your top 10.

The deadline to receive your form is Sunday, April 14th. Thank you so much!

Job Suite for Organ and Narration featuring Stephen Price, organ
Worship and Arts Series
First Presbyterian Church, Muncie, Indiana

Based on the Book of Job from the Bible, the suite, composed in 1987, consisting of eight movements with narrative passages from the biblical story outlining the order of events in Job’s life. The work involves three characters: God, the Devil, and Job. The devil makes a wager with God to test the strength of Job’s faith. Job is a devout servant of God who loses everything in sacrifice for his devotion with the reward of receiving double after the turmoil. The biblical reference states, “And the Lord turned the captivity of Job and blessed the latter end of Job more than his beginning.” The story is much like Eben’s life: one of loss, pain, and suffering for one’s religious and political freedoms.
